

- Try to explain realism in your own words, and argue for or against it
- Is scientific realism a correct representation of how scientists think about science? What about the aim of science?
- Is van Fraassen right that theories at best entitle us to believe in their empirical adequacy, or can we know more? Try to argue for or against
- Is Laudan right that our current epistemic predicament is analogous to the past?